Literature & Activity Based History:

K-3rd Grade

This class will include a variety of engaging books and activities to bring history to life.

The Great Books, History As Literature:

4th Grade and Up Literature Groups - All Year

Using the Great Books breaks down the artificial division between history and literature. Instead of memorizing facts about the past, the student is encouraged to interact with the ideas of the past. Using the Great Books as the center of a history/literature course also encourages the student to think about how we know what we know about the past and to have a greater understanding of our own civilization, country, and place in time.
